

"U.S. Naval China?" You be asking yourself. Yes, China for the Naval Officers (and different top marks for different ranks I might add!)

Here we have a handsome full place setting for the Wardroom Officer:

Look up close at this anchor topmark:

Isn't it elegant?

Arrgh! And sea chests! Ye won't be forgetting these beauts! Antique Domed Trunks circa 1800's, painstakingly restored into Captain's Cabin Sea Chests which can hold up to 200 hanging file folders, stapler, tape dispensers, pens, and all other items normally found on a typical desk, or in a Sailor's Seabag! They've also been known to store Pirates' treasures such as USN China, Silverware and Table Linens!

Ahoy there, Matey! Allow me to welcome ye to

The Pirate's
Lair

Here ye will be finding elegant antique US Naval Chinaware and vintage USN Silverware, Hollowware, Linens and a great many other items with a distinctive maritime theme, perfect for Nautical Décor! Step inside, Matey and permit me to illustrate my wares!

We've been combing the high seas to bring these beautiful pieces back home and into the hands of worthy patrons.

Look sharp at the stunning array of Kings Design Silver plate, each with a fouled anchor on the front, and a USN stamped on the back.

Again, while the anchor is the most common mark found, ranking officers each had their own marks to demonstrate the different rank!

Here is an example of what was given to the ranking officers. This is the mug with which the Captain would be drinking his evening coffee:

We have everything for the informed client, including authentic vintage Naval tablecloths and napkins! On our website, the subtle white on white fouled anchor & rope design is clearly visible! See www.thepirateslair.com!

Taken from WW2 Liberty Ships and crafted beautifully into Desks, Coffee & End Tables and Benches, our Hatch Cover tables are truly one-of-a-kind!!

The Pirate's own 10' Ship's Hatch Formal Dining Room Table; note the inlaid rope detail!
